

Person-Centred Emergency Preparedness (P-CEP)

University of Sydney Centre for Continuing Education Certificate Course

By completing the course you will:

- Apply the 4 P-CEP action steps to strengthen your own emergency preparedness.
- Develop knowledge, skills, and confidence to enable P-CEP with others.
- Connect and learn together with other stakeholders to advance P-CEP in your role and community context.

Scan the QR code to submit your expression of interest.

About the Course:

- 6 self-paced, online modules bring learners together to develop the knowledge and skills to facilitate P-CEP.
- Read, watch, listen, and reflect on learning through practical activity-based discussions.
- Create an implementation plan.
- Join the P-CEP Connect Learning Community to support translation of learning into practice.

Who should take the course:

This course offers the first nationally consistent interdisciplinary education on person-centred emergency preparedness. It was co-designed and evaluated for its effectiveness in preparing ourselves and others to anticipate, plan, and respond effectively to disaster risks through tailored preparedness planning and cross-sector collaborative action that leaves nobody behind.

The P-CEP Certificate Course is suitable for anyone who would like to make a tailored emergency plan and learn how to facilitate person-centred emergency preparedness in others, including:

People with disability and carers and their representatives who advocate for inclusion and support of people with disability everyday

Service providers who provide services and support to people with disability, chronic health conditions and other people at greater disaster risk (e.g., aged care; housing/homelessness services)

Emergency services staff and volunteers who work with their communities to make sure people understand their risk and take preparedness actions

Government community engagement and emergency management staff

Community resilience and disaster recovery workers who plan for community resilience, emergencies and disaster recovery

This partnership research is proudly supported with funding from the Australian Government through an ARC Linkage Grant (LP180100964) and the NSW Government.
